Twinking Markets

Recently I decided to make a twink rogue and priest. For those of you unfamiliar with twinking, WoWWiki says, “A twink is a player character that is disproportionately powerful for its level, possessing potent items and high-end enchants that are generally way beyond the means of other players at that level.” Typically twinks in WoW are characters that are specifically tailored for battlegrounds at levels 19, 29, 39 and less commonly 49 and 59.

Since I started twinking my own characters, I learned that there is great potential to make gold from these players. There are specific items that are the best for each class type in each level bracket. The most popular brackets are 15-19, 25-29 and 35-39. The 45-49 bracket is also becoming quite popular because you have more abilities at your disposal. With that said, even the “best” items in the 49 bracket do not sell as quickly as the mediocre items in the 19, 29 and 39 brackets. Not as many people are twinking at 49, so the demand is not quite as high. I have included items from the 19, 29, 39 and 49 twinking brackets. However, the 19, 29 and 39 brackets are by far the most popular (and profitable). Rogues and hunters are the most popular twink classes because they tend to benefit the most from the enchants at this level when compared to other classes. However, there are certainly plenty of twinks in all classes.

Never underestimate the amount of gold you can make from these players. The players who are buying these items have a main character funding them and may have been waiting a long time for the item to show up on the AH. Therefore, they are more likely to spend a few extra gold to get the best item for their twink character. Someone creating a twink character needs the best items available before spending hundreds of gold on enchants. Even the smallest increase in stats is worth it whenever twinking. For example, a Shadowfang recently sold on my server for over 5000 gold... for a level 19 blue weapon. I hope that illustrates the potential of this market.

Here is a table of items that you should look for on the Auction House. I am not saying that you should go and farm all these items, although some may be worth it depending on the drop rate. Some of their drop rates are so low that it would be a waste of your time. What I suggest instead is to check the Auction House regularly for these items. For some reason people mess up big time and list an item for 50 silver, 2 gold, or even 10 gold when it is actually worth quite a lot more. Typically this is a low level player who does not realize the value of what he has especially if there aren't other listings of the same item for comparison. Often times the green quality items listed below are looked at as "cheap" when they are actually some of the best available items within the level bracket. If you are consistent at looking these items up, you can make A LOT of gold just working the auction house.

Another thing to consider is the different stats on some of the green items with suffixes. Even though the item might be "...of the Bear", there are usually several varieties of these. Each one may have different stats. For example, Elder Pants of the Eagle may have 9 intellect and 8 stamina or 9 stamina and 8 intellect. These are nice but they will not give you the most gold. You will need to find the Elder Pants of the Eagle with 9 intellect and 9 stamina. Remember even just this 1 stat change can be the difference between 5G and 25G. In parentheses below I will put the highest stats on the item, so you know what to look for. You must pay close attention to what you are bidding on as I do not recommend buying items with one stat that is off unless it's a killer deal! Remember- twinks want the absolute best!

Enjoy!
